0101 Once upon a time there ^{was} a woodman
 0102 who ^{thought} that ^{no} one worked as hard as 0103 he did. One evening when he ^{came} home
 0104 from work, he said to his wife, "What do you
 0105 do all day ^{while} I am ^{away} cutting wood?"
 0106 "I ^{keep} house," replied the wife. "and 0107 ^{keeping} house is hard work."
 0108 "Hard work!" said the husband. "You don't
 0109 know what hard work is! You should ^{try}
 0110 cutting wood!"
 0111 "I'd be ^{glad} to," said the wife.
 0112 "Why ^{don't} you do my work some day? I'll 0113 ^{start} stay home and keep house," said the woodman.
 0114 "If you stay home to do my work, ^{you'll}
 0115 have to make ^{better} butter, ^{carry} water from the 0116 well, ^{wash} the clothes, ^{clean} the house, and 0117 look after the baby," said the wife.

"I can do all that," replied the hubble-bad husband.

0119 "We'll do it tomorrow!"

0201 So the next morning the wife went off (to)

0202 the forest (the husband) stayed home and

0203 began to do his wife's work.

0204 He began to make some butter. As he put

0205 the cream into the churn, he said, "This is

0206 not going to be hard work. All I have to do

0207 is sit here and move this stick up and down.

0208 "Soon the cream will turn into butter."

0209 Just then the woodman heard the baby

0210 crying. He looked around, but he could not

0211 see her. She was not in the house. Quickly,

0212 he ran outside to look for her. He found the

0213 baby at the far end of the garden and

0214 he brought her back to the house.

0301 In his hurry, the woodman had left the 0302 door open behind him. When he got back to

0303 the house, he saw a big pig inside with its

0304 nose in the churn. Get out! Get out!

0305 shouted the woodman at the top of his voice.

0306 The big pig ran around and around the

0314 to the ^{well} well for some water. When he came

0315 back the baby was crying.

0316 ^{Pouring} "Poor baby, you must be ^{hurt} hungry," said the ^{angry} angry

0317 woodman. "I'll make some porridge for you.

0318 I'll ^{light} light a fire in the fireplace, and the 0319 porridge will be ready in a few minutes."

0320 Just as the ^{hus-} husband was ^{putt-} putting the ^{putt-} putting

0404 today."

0405 The man ^{felt} felt ^{proud} proud

0410 on the roof. You'll ^{UC} find ^{some-} something to eat

0411 up there."

0412 The man put the cow on top of the house.

0413 Then he was ^{UC} ^{After} afraid that she would fall off

0414 the roof and hurt ^{himself} herself. So he put one ^{on}

0415 end of a ^{ro-} rope around the cow's neck. He ^{and}

0416 dropped the ^{other} end down the ^{chimney} chimney.

0504 his left leg.

0505 "Now I can ^{UC} finish making this porridge."

0506 ^C This said the woodman, "and the cow will

0507 be ^{S-} safe."

0508 But the man ^{UC} ^{stacked} spoke ^{stop} too ^{Su-} soon, for just then

0509 the cow fell off the roof. She pulled him up

0510 the chimney by the rope. There he ^{UC} ^{hurr-} hung.

0514 It was not very long before ^{the} woodman's

0515 ^{wif} wife came home. As she came near the

0516 house, she ^{called} could hear the cow mooing, the

0601 baby ^{cr-} crying, and her ^{hear} husband shouting for 0602 help. She hurried up the ^{patch} path. She ^{cut} cut the 0603 rope from the cow's neck. As she did so, ^A

0604 the ^{cow} fell down to the ground, and the 0605 husband ^{dropped} head first down the chimney.

0606 when the wife went into the ^{house} she

0607 saw her husband ^{with} his legs up the

0608 chimney and his head in the ^{pot} pomidge pot

0609 From ^{that} day on, the husband went into

0610 the ^{forest} every day to cut wood. The wife

0611 stayed home to keep house and to look

0612 after their ^{children} child

0613 Never again did the woodman say to his

0614 wife. "What did you do all day?" Never

0615 again did he tell his wife that he would

0616 stay home and keep house.
